🏗️ How Abler Works

Abler is structured like a tree, helping you organize your club with clarity and flexibility:

- Club (Organization name) – Your overall club account
- Under the club, you create Divisions, which can be named (e.g. Football Development, Holiday Camps, After School Club). These division names are visible on your public booking platform and help users navigate your offerings.

  Note: Divisions can also be your location e.g. London, Manchester etc.

Each division(e.g. Football development Girls) can include:

- Groups – e.g. U7 Girls, U8 Girls, U9 Girls etc.

  Around each group, you can:

  - Assign staff (e.g. coaches, team managers)
  - Create and manage events (e.g. sessions, matches)
  - Communicate with participants or/and guardians via messaging and/or posts.

  Each group can also have subgroups, such as U7 Yellows and U7 Greens. These subgroups are fully supported and participants can be routed to the correct one automatically via the booking platform.

- Events – matches, camps, training sessions, and more
- Booking Offerings – such as memberships and one-off events

🔗 How Groups and Bookings Work

- Booking offerings are connected to specific groups. For example, a membership product for U7 will automatically place the participant in the U7 group upon registration.

  Note: Your offerings can be made publicly visible on your booking platform, or you can choose to share private links for invite-only programs.

🔐 Roles & Permissions

You can assign different roles with specific access rights:

- Club Admins – Full access to all divisions, groups, data, and payments
- Divisional Admins – Manage one division, optionally with or without financial access
- Group Staff – Manage their specific group(s), with three different role levels that control access to events, communication, attendance, and more
